

ABSTRACT

Thermally conductive polymeric materials, compositions and methods of making are provided. The materials include relatively high concentrations of thermally conductive filler materials, preferably fibrous filler materials.

- 5 The compositions may be used in a variety of applications to form molded and extruded articles.